Accu-Time Systems Gets Iced

Ellington, Connecticut –February 12, 2011 – In its continuing quest to support its surrounding communities and organizations Accu-Time Systems sent a team to participate in The Penguin Plunge at Hammonasset Beach to benefit CT Special Olympics.

The ATS Blizzard Beasts raised one thousand, six hundred dollars to benefit CTSO and had a tremendous amount of freezing fun in the process. Larry Dawson, ATS Blizzard Beasts' team captain, says, "As we stood freezing on the sand at Hammonasset Beach getting ready for our turn to jump into the thirty-five degree water we kept reminding ourselves that Special Olympics does tremendous good and our few minutes of discomfort are worth it."

Along with the money raised by the individual members of the Blizzard Beasts the company matched contributions to bring the total donation to sixteen hundred dollars. Peter DiMaria, ATS' President and CEO, says, "Accu-Time Systems has a long history of helping raise money and donations for organizations like the Ellington Food Bank, Shriner's Hospital, Hole In The Wall Gang Camp, Red Cross, Holyoke's Soldier's Home, and many other local and national charitable organizations."

Blizzard Beasts team member and ATS employee, Bill Horvath, says "I couldn't stop shivering but I love the work that the Connecticut Special Olympics does so I'm happy to help raise money for them. I've done other Penguin Plunges and all you remember is the fun. The shivering eventually stops."

The ATS Blizzard Beasts team consisted of ATS employees and their families and friends: Bill Horvath, Peter DiMaria, Peter DiMaria, Jr., Patrick Ryan, Donon Haines, Peter Haines, Colin Akerly, Larry Dawson, Marie Dawson, Madeline Dawson, Emily Dawson, Sarah Dawson, Amanda Smith, Michelle Smith, Sara Laplante, Julie Samson, and Jenna Varnauskas.
